Kelli Abdoney: photographs

The northern lands of Caithness and Sutherland are the subjects in this body of Photographic work. My interests are deeply embedded in my love and curiosity for these remote unpopulated regions of Scotland.

The Advanced Photo class made the most of the incredible Fall we've had, taking trips to the canal, river, and hidden creeks and meadows to photograph and explore our landscape project. Kelli asked the students to look at light from an aesthetic point of view. They observed soft light, hard light, dappled light and golden light. The culmination were really beautiful observations and compositions. We hope you enjoy looking at them as much as they enjoyed finding them.
